MSD: Activity Standards, Principal-Advisor Enforcement, and Disruptive Conduct Coordination

Each school shall coordinate disruptive student behavior procedures with extracurricular Student Standards files and minimum activity standards. Student standards shall include conduct expectations for frequent or flagrant foul, abusive, or profane language; willful disobedience; defiance of proper authority; disruptive behavior; destruction or defacing of school property; theft; behavior that interferes with the educational process; drug, alcohol, tobacco, or electronic-cigarette violations; hazing; assaultive or demeaning behavior; and conduct that threatens student or staff safety.

When a disruptive conduct concern also affects extracurricular eligibility or good standing, the advisor and principal shall coordinate enforcement with the applicable student activity policy, this disruptive student behavior policy, the student discipline policy, and due process requirements. This provision does not create an additional basis for court referral beyond the USBA model notice framework; it preserves local school-level standards administration and principal/advisor coordination.
